HONGKONG, MARCH 4TH, 1913.

Quite a storm of indignation was gathered from a Shanghai newspaper, has been aroused among the Chinese of the port by the report that, in view of the growing prevalence of certain crimes in the Settlement, the Consular Body has resolved to empower the Mixed Court to add flogging to the penalties for robbery with violence. The objection to the change, we are told, is that flogging is "barbaric" and a remnant of pre-revolution days. It seems that the proposals of the Consular Body are that a culprit caught engaged in highway robbery or in snatching will first be taken to the Municipal doctor to see how many strokes he is capable of bearing. Then he will be taken to the Mixed Court, and if found guilty, sent to receive not fewer than eighteen lashes. The punishment will be administered by Sikhs, this being ordered to prevent the Chinese policemen from dealing too leniently with the prisoner. He will then undergo a term of imprisonment, in addition, if the charge is sufficiently serious.

Other changes enacted in the punishments include that kidnappers and traffickers in girls, shall receive long terms of imprisonment with hard labour, instead of short terms. A third alteration, an innovation acting much on the same lines of the reformatory and industrial schools in England, is that the culprits are boys who will be taught a trade, deals with mischievous youths; and boys from the age of 16 downwards who have got beyond the control of their parents and who have found their way into the Police Court. They will be ordered to be detained in prison under special care and will be taught a trade. When fully proficient they will be returned to their parents, who will benefit from them for the time they have lost while under restraint. A fourth change deals with the question of deportation. At the present time it is not easy to re-expel a prisoner who has returned from banishment. What it is now proposed to do with those returning from expulsion is first to sentence them to a term of imprisonment, depending on the nature of the crime and the length of the first expulsion, and then to hand them over to the native authorities. When we read of forty or more lepers being driven into a pit, and there shot, covered with paraffin and burnt, by order of a provincial governor under the new regime; and when we read of men and women being publicly shot by official order for smoking opium, is it not hypocritical to talk of flogging for the crime of highway robbery, being "barbaric" and a remnant of pre-revolution days? Flogging for such offences is in fact a well-recognised punishment in more advanced countries than China. At the London Criminal Sessions and by Judges at the Assizes, for example, flogging is very frequently awarded in cases of robbery with violence. It may be "barbaric" but the only effective way to check serious crime of this character—as experience in Hongkong has shown—is to award the only form of punishment likely to prove deterrent. In Hongkong the Magistrates are empowered to punish with flogging those who steal ornaments and chattels from the person of any woman or child, and only a few months ago the Legislature gave the Magistrates power to award flogging in cases of indecent assault, when such cases are dealt with summarily. The Judges of the Supreme Court of late years have found it desirable in the public interest to supplement long terms of imprisonment for robbery with violence, by corporal punishment, with the result that there has since been a very noticeable decrease in this class of crime. We are not aware that law-abiding Chinese in Hongkong entertain any sentimental objection to the administration of corporal punishment for serious crimes of the nature above indicated. The victims of these crimes, as a rule, are Chinese citizens, and so far as we have been able to learn, Chinese public opinion, in Hongkong, on corporal punishment is certainly not adverse to its infliction for the crimes to which it is expressly restricted by the local Ordinances. Yet in Shanghai we are asked to believe that the law-abiding Chinese community are greatly incensed because the Consular Body has deemed the infliction of flogging to be necessary to check the increasing crime in the Settlements, and the Chinese Magistrates are threatening to resign if their change is enforced! There is an element of opera bouffe about it all, and we suspect that the action of the Young China organisation of Shanghai is not so much inspired by sympathy for the criminals as by jealousy of foreign authority over the Mixed Court. They have yet to learn that robbery with violence is more "barbaric" than flogging as a method of punishment, and the sooner that is recognised the better opinion will the world form of the new regime.

The public romp of Rodeo ponies takes place this afternoon at the Mountain outside the City Hall.

The Dallas Comedy Company last night gave a repeat performance of the "Glad Eye" before a good house at the Theatre. To night "What Every Woman Knows" is to be repeated.

Chinese boycotters in Manila are stated to have offered P10,000 for the life of Yang Shu-wen, the Consul-General, and an American police sergeant has been detailed for his protection.

The Frankfurter Zeitung reports that Herr H. Knipping, German Consul at Tientsin, will succeed Herr von Buri as Consul-General in Shanghai, and will be succeeded in Tientsin by Dr. Wendschuch, of Nanking.

The recent ruthless burning of lepers by order of the Tutuh of Kuangsi has created great indignation at Kuellin, and the members of the Provincial Assembly have proposed to impeach the Tutuh when the Assembly opens.

President Yuan Shih-kai makes his candidacy for the Presidency dependent upon his exclusive right to appoint the Premier as well as the Ministers of War and the Navy. Without that, a clear sighted policy, he says, is impossible.

Six cases of small-pox were reported in the Colony last week, four ending fatally. All were Chinese. No case of plague was reported. One imported case of diphtheria (American) was notified and two Chinese cases of puerperal fever.

The Chinese police force at Weihaiwei is being added to considerably, some forty men being sworn in for duty along the boundary line, and will be superintended by one of the foreign inspectors of police, who will reside at one of the outposts.

The Ice Championship of North China, which was held in the American Rink, Peking, on February 15, was won by the American Guard ice team. Out of a total of seventy-two points the Americans scored sixty-seven. They also won every first place.

The Church Body of St. John's Cathedral have elected Mr. W. L. Pattenden as Hon. Secretary. Mr. Pattenden is not new to the work having previously held that office. Dr. Clark has again consented to hold the office of Hon. Treasurer.

A Chinese youth was charged before Mr. Melbourne at the Magistracy yesterday with stealing $1,578 in Hongkong Bank notes. It was stated that he was sent to change a large quantity of subsidiary coin, and kept the notes, alleging they had been stolen. He was sentenced to two months' hard labour.

The police have been informed that on Saturday night three men broke into the house, 3, Corporation Terrace, Caine Road, gaining access to the premises by means of a window at the back. One man held the Chinese occupier by the throat, while the others demanded the keys. The robbers took away jewellery and other property to the value of $300. One man was arrested yesterday at Kowloon railway station as he was about to leave for Canton, some of the stolen property being found in his possession.

The annual meeting of the Kowloon Bowling Club was held last night at the Club House—Mr. G. L. Duncan presiding over a good attendance of members. The report and balance sheet was adopted after some discussion. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mr. A. Ramsay; Vice-President, Mr. R. Hall; hon. secretary, Mr. P. J. Taylor; hon. treasurer, Mr. D. Cooper; committee—Messrs. J. Tully, W. Russell, W. Johnston, B. L. Frost, D. Harvey, J. M. Henderson, and W. Brown.

THE BALKAN WAR.

TURKEY ASKS THE POWERS TO CONCLUDE PEACE.

London, March 3rd.
Renter's correspondent at Rome telegraphs that the Turkish Ambassador has informed Marquis San Giuliano that Turkey places herself in the hands of the Powers with a view to the conclusion of peace. The reports from the other capitals indicate that similar action is expected. It is understood that the Powers will now seek to ascertain if the Allies are willing to accept the mediation of Europe.

A TURKISH PLOT FRUSTRATED.

It is reported from Constantinople that a plot, headed by Lutfi Bey, Secretary to Prince Sabed Din, to overthrow the Government, has been discovered. An official communique says that the plan was to lead a mob to the Palace and demand the dismissal of the Cabinet, the arrest of the Ministers and their supporters, and the appointment of a Cabinet to conclude peace on terms which would ensure the non-interference of the Powers for thirty years.

CHINA AND MONGOLIA.

CAUSTIC REPLY TO PRESIDENT'S REPRESENTATIONS.

London, March 3rd.
A telegram from Urga to St. Petersburg states that the Kuthukhtai, in a court message in reply to President Yuan Shih-kai's representations, says that it is useless for China to speak of sympathy for Mongolia, and recommends Yuan Shih-kai to devote himself to home affairs and save the Chinese from fresh evils and partition by foreigners.

CHINO-JAPANESE RELATIONS.

London, March 3rd.
Dr. Sun Yat-sen was to leave Japan on Monday. His speeches indicate that the real object of his visit was to foster Chino-Japanese commercial and political entente and offered important concessions to bankers and manufacturers.

SUFFRAGETTE MEETING BROKEN UP.

London, March 3rd.
There were rowdy scenes at a Suffragette Meeting held in Hyde Park. At another meeting at Wimbledon which was attended by huge crowds many women pulled the speakers with pieces of turf, boots, sticks, etc., and popular songs were sung, drowning the speeches. The police had the greatest difficulty in preventing the wrecking of the stands, and conveyed the Suffragettes to the Station in a dishevelled condition.

THE THREATENED RAILWAY STRIKE.

London, March 3rd.
The directors of the Midland Railway, in a long statement in justification of the dismissal of Richardson, maintain that he disobeyed the new working arrangement under which traffic was operated by oral instructions, which was in accordance with the Board of Trade Regulations. Richardson was the only man who refused to obey such instructions. Moreover, he conducted himself offensively to his superiors and told the Board he would not accept verbal orders, even from the General Manager, if he thought they were contrary to written orders.

Meanwhile the men's agitation in favour of Richardson is growing apace, and at crowded meetings in London, Leeds, Stockton, and Derby resolutions have been passed demanding his reinstatement.

M. J. H. Thomas, M.P., the organiser of the Railwaymen's Union, declares that if a strike is decided upon it will be a national one and would begin without notice.

THE BURDEN OF ARMAMENTS.

DISCUSSION IN FRANCE AND GERMANY.

London, March 3rd.
The question of increased armaments is absorbing French and German public opinion. The French Press regards the re-adoption of the three years' military service as assured, as it is the only reply to the German expansion. Popular feeling is evidenced by the action of the time-expired men rallying to the colours for a fresh term of service.

The German Press is now agreed that the cost of the increase in the army will necessitate an expenditure of fifty millions sterling, of which amount eleven millions will be annually recurring, while forty millions will be non-recurring and will be largely expended upon new fortresses on the eastern frontier.

The official journal Verdeutsche announces that the huge increase of expenditure is to be met by a special levy upon property in addition to the regular property tax. The Federal Council was convened yesterday to discuss the questions.

The papers state that owners of property of the value of fifteen hundred pounds sterling and under will be exempt from the special levy, but the federal Princes will be asked to relinquish the exemption from taxes which they have hitherto enjoyed. It is anticipated that the Government's proposals will be determinedly opposed in the Reichstag, which will probably meet for a special session during the summer.

The Verdeutsche urges the necessity of passing the Army Bill by Whitsuntide with a view to enabling the War Office to carry out the necessary changes by the autumn.

A debate took place in the Reichstag on Saturday on the naval estimates. Remarkable speeches were made by the leaders of the Centre and National Liberal parties, dwelling upon the progress of the German Navy, especially in torpedo boats, submarines and aircraft, and the need of maintaining a powerful fleet commanding respect.

Admiral Tirpitz mentioned that new aerodromes will be laid down at Wismar and Rostock.

A special levy will be made once only to cover non-recurring expenditure on fortresses and buildings. The permanent increase on recurring expenditure will be met by permanent taxation.

Germany's gigantic spirit in the race of armaments, which has exceeded all expectations, is the principal topic of discussion. The papers comment in guarded terms, evidently awaiting more explicit information, but generally it is pointed out that the only hope of preserving peace is the maintenance of the balance of power. Consequently Great Britain is faced with a prospect of far larger sacrifices for life assurance.

According to Berlin telegrams the special levy will probably amount to 10/- an acre with exemption of property valued under £1,500. This is regarded as an astute move of the Chancellor to disarm the Socialists, but the poor man will undoubtedly be hard hit by general taxation.

AUSTRIAN AND RUSSIAN RECRUITS AUGMENTED.

It is reported from Austria that the annual contingent of recruits is to be increased from 150,000 to 170,000. Increases in the Russian Army are likewise indicated.

THE PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

London, March 3rd.
The British rejoinder to Mr. Secretary Knox's letter of the 23rd January has been presented at Washington. It answers the contention that the British grievance is only hypothetical, and that the protest therefore is premature, and submits that arbitration, for which there is already ample provision, should precede rather than follow actual friction. Mr. Knox has reserved the reply for his successor.

SYDNEY IN DARKNESS.

A GASWORKERS' STRIKE.

London, March 3rd.
A general strike of gasworkers plunged the city of Sydney in darkness, the hospitals being most seriously affected. The shops and hotels are using candles. The strikers have repudiated an agreement which the Hon. A. C. Carmichael, Minister for Education, had signed on their behalf with the employers for appointment of a wage board. The Premier has now presented an ultimatum to the strikers summoning them to return to work forthwith.

AN AVIATION INCIDENT.

London, March 3rd.
A message from Paris states that the aviator Epito in attempting to fly from Mourmelon to Switzerland, was compelled to descend for petrol at Metz, where they were arrested by the German police, and obliged to pack their monoplane and return to France.

NEW AIRSHIP FOR RUSSIA.

London, March 3rd.
A Berlin message reports that the Russian airship built for Russia made a successful flight of 140 miles on Saturday. The airship was built by the German firm of Zeppelin.

PRE-MORTEM FUNERAL SERVICES.

STRANGE STORY FROM TOKYO.

The following extraordinary story appears in the Japan Times, and reads like an extract from a chapter of old Japan:—A strange advertisement appeared in some Tokyo journals a few days ago which, rendered into English, reads as follows:—

"The undersigned, in view of the political situation, have now decided to start on a very important mission at the risk of their lives. Therefore, they desire to hold a farewell meeting with their acquaintances before the graves of the 47 quarantines where they are still alive. They request all those who would join the function to come to the Senjakuji Temple, Takanawa, Shiba, at 10 a.m. on February 10th."

"The exact date of their death is not yet certain, but the priests will read scriptures before their coffins as in a funeral service. Upon their death, no more ceremonies will be held, nor any wreaths accepted."

"Kanjiro Tsuda, Gikaro Goto, Mohel Miyaji."

It was quite difficult to understand what all this meant, says the Times, but by those who knew that the three men were of some notoriety, the advertisement was regarded as suggestive, and enough to incite curiosity in view of the present tangled political situation. And on the prescribed date, a great many people gathered in the Senjakuji Temple, and all the functions were carried out as announced. But how the three men are going to die as victims to a great deed remains to be seen.

MISSIONARY'S EXPERIENCES IN HEART OF AFRICA.

BELGIAN'S TIN SWORD.

In St. Lawrence's Hall, Edgware, Mr. Daniel Crawford, the well-known Scottish missionary, told a delighted audience the story of a small part of his 23 years of life, without a break, in the heart of Africa. One illuminating little thing which showed how long he had been away was that he addressed his audience as "You Londoners," and, as everybody knows, nothing could be further from London than the peaceful village of Edgware.

Mr. Crawford's lecture was called "First in the Footsteps of Livingstone," and he is the one white man who knows the people who know Livingstone. He had never spoken to Livingstone himself, but in the heart of the African forests he has met many old blacks who knew the great man, and whose reverence for him and his work is as great as is Mr. Crawford's. They had all sorts of names for him. "He who hath no toes" being one, and "He who sleeps on the waves" being another; the first because Livingstone wore boots and the second because, in his desire to add to the world's store of geography, he was always busy about lakes and watercourses.

It was Mr. Crawford, who throughout his 23 years in Africa was accompanied by his wife, who held the service to the missionary explorer under the tree at the foot of which Livingstone's heart is buried—"the real Livingstone memorial service," when Westminster Abbey seemed a long way off. There the black people of the plain and forest who knew Livingstone gathered in thousands while Mrs. Crawford made music on "a box that squeaked when it touched the ground," as the natives described her portable harmonium. The lecturer read extracts from what he wrote at the time in his diary, and seemed to bring the whole scene, far from the centre of Africa, to the little pitch-pine building in the village of Edgware. And he gave the native song that was chanted at the time: "Tell me, oh, tell me, where are you all going to migrate to? The country is rotten. This country is done for. For this day an elephant is dead of a spear wound (Livingstone's dysentery). The lovely one is gone."

NATIVE LIFE AND IDEALS.
But, interesting as were Mr. Crawford's invaluable additions to what has up-to-now been the slenderest knowledge of Livingstone's life in the heart of Africa, they paled before his amazingly vivid descriptions of native life and ideals. He drew a marvellously graphic picture of a "durban" held by the Belgian commandant of a wide district. Mr. Crawford can converse fluently in the dialects of the natives. The commandant did not know a word. So, as he was after all the representative of law and order in that district, he decided on the durbar, and asked Mr. Crawford—who exercised a great influence with the natives—to tell them what a fine chap he was. The natives came in thousands. The durbar was held, "with all the kings ranged in their order of precedence, just like people at a Mansion House dinner," and above them all the Emperor, "a real Emperor, with a territory three times as large as England." There sat the commandant, "a real nut (Mr. Crawford has soon learned things in England), with his thirty-franc tin sword, and not looking a bit like a cab-driver from Brussels," which was how he probably began life before he decided it was better to leave his country.

Mr. Crawford passed on, with interest, all the good things that the commandant said of himself. "And was it fancy, he said the Emperor wink?" At any rate, he did the Emperor wink. In any case, the Emperor, as is the African way, replied in parable, the upshot of which was that in spite of Mr. Crawford's description of himself as zero to the commandant's boiling point, the Emperor, speaking for his followers, pinned their faith to the shrew mouse (Mr. Crawford), and not to the elephant (the brave commandant). To the African mind the widest difference that can be expressed is always by comparing the smallest mammal of the African continent with the largest.

SWASHBUCKLING EXPLORERS.
Mr. Crawford was very hard on the "swashbuckling" type of explorer who argues with a revolver, and is all in favour of the map with the walking-stick, as Livingstone was. He continually brought in the great reverence with which Livingstone's name is still regarded among the children of Africa. To them he was the type of Englishman ("Ingereza," as they called him), and they will have no other. And Mr. Crawford, who

INTIMATION
"A MACHINE A MINUTE."
The week just closed, as this issue goes to press, has been epoch-making in the annals of the Writing Machine. A great milestone has been reached and passed in the history of the

Remington
Typewriter

During the week we have booked orders for more than a Machine a minute for every working hour.

VISIBLE MODELS 10 AND 11.
Not many years ago Remington sales were Sixty Machines per month; now they are over Sixty Machines per hour—MORE THAN A MACHINE A MINUTE. Such is Typewriter Development; such is Remington Progress.

Livingstone's black children did not like this, and within twelve days the Arab had died.
